2017 Freedom Network Conference Exhibitor Opportunity

The 15th Annual Freedom Network USA Human Trafficking Conference entitled, “Redefining Justice: Envisioning New Approaches in Anti-Trafficking Work” returns to the Doubletree by Hilton Washington DC – Crystal City on April 5-6, 2017.

Every year, this two-day event brings together multidisciplinary experts to discuss trends and challenges, and to devise solutions to human trafficking in the United States. This conference will work to redefine the concept of justice by addressing how inequalities and injustices can create vulnerabilities to human trafficking and continue to disadvantage trafficking survivors. Sessions will explore justice in the context of prevention efforts, client-centered service provision, and engaged criminal and civil justice systems.

The event will attract over 400 attendees and presenters working in victim-service fields, including human trafficking. This is a fantastic opportunity to access hundreds of professionals who are decision-makers working in social service, legal service, law enforcement, public office, and other government agencies.
